Not Listening But Comparing.

In other words, a great artist singing on the concert stage in direct comparison with the Re-Creation of her voice by The New Edison.

This is what the picture means. It shows Anna Case, of the Metropolitan Grand Opera, proving by actual comparison that Thomas A. Edison's new invention Re-Creates her superb art with absolute fidelity.

The NEW EDISON

is no mere talking machine. Its Re-Creation, and the living voice, are indistinguishable.

The musical critics of more than two hundred Canadian and American papers stated that they were unable to detect any difference. To express this perfection—to cause the New Edison to stand out from the ordinary talking machine, music lovers coined a new title for Mr. Edison's marvellous success—"Music's Re-Creation".

More than one thousand different selections are at your pleasure. Come in and hear them.

The Professor's Bulletin

No. 11. According to my knowledge, made last week, this Bulletin will be devoted to answering the question of "One of the Opposition." We request you to explain what one of the words "should," and "would," if I hope to give a clear and adequate exposition of this subject; but I must also say as brief as possible, consisting of a few words.

We may regard the use of the auxiliary verbs "should" and "would" as falling into four classes of cases:

1. In a conditional sentence, the auxiliary which immediately follows the conjunction "if" is invariably "should"—except in the case of such conditions as "If it is necessary, then we should do it," where "should" is dependent upon the willingness and action of the person referred to. Thus the regular form is: "If I were to go to the station, I would do it almost." This introduces the conditional part of the sentence. In the second, or assertive, part of the sentence, the auxiliary can possibly "should" be used with the first verb, "would" with the second and third persons, whether singular or plural. When purpose is to be indicated in the second, or assertive, part of the sentence, "would" is used with all three persons, whether singular or plural. Examples:—
1. If I should be able to do it, I should be greatly delighted.
2. If there is an attack, I would protest immediately.
3. If you should find the time to go, you would enjoy the meeting.
4. If such an opportunity presents itself, the editor, then, would do well to take advantage of it.
5. Of course, the order of the parts in such a conditional sentence may be reversed. For example:—
You would make the outline, if you had time, and the people realize the failure of the submarine campaign, then you would be compelled to make the statement they have been deceived in the military advice in Berlin.

"Always the Prussian military rulers are keeping the people in ignorance of the true facts and conditions. Every incident of the war is distorted into German victory."

"But their stomachs are pinching them. The Prussians cannot make them believe they are not hungry, and that hunger is becoming more intense and that the time is near when the last gasps of trouble may be expected. When that comes to pass, and the people realize the failure of the submarine campaign, then they would be compelled to make the statement they have been deceived in the military advice in Berlin."

6. The use of "should" is to indicate obligation or propriety. If moral obligation—that is, duty—is to be indicated, the statement "should," or "would" is required.

Accordingly, "I should keep in touch with local manufacturers by reading the 'Enterprise,'" but also, "I ought to pay up my arrears to the telephone company."

7. The use of "would" to indicate wish or desire. Examples:—
"I would fail to relieve the responsibility."
"I would like to have a house."
But "purpose referred to past time is indicated thus:—
"If I had realized the urgency of the situation, I would have taken steps to avert the calamity."

8. The use of "should" to indicate obligation. This is the obligation of expediency or propriety. If moral obligation—that is, duty—is to be indicated, the statement "should," or "would" is required.

Accordingly, "I should keep in touch with local manufacturers by reading the 'Enterprise,'" but also, "I ought to pay up my arrears to the telephone company."

9. The use of "would" to indicate wish or desire. Examples:—
"I would fail to relieve the responsibility."
"I would like to have a house."
But "purpose referred to past time is indicated thus:—

10. The use of "should" to indicate the desirability of some action. This is the desirability form. The regular form is: "I would say that . . ."

"One of the Opposition," expresses his request in two modes. Both forms are correct; for in the one case he is making a simple statement of fact, and in the other case he is indicating purpose on behalf of himself. That is the basic distinction; and the intelligent listener or reader would interpret the statement accordingly.

—The Professor.

Conditions in Germany Appalling

March 12.—Appalling conditions prevailing throughout Germany were revealed yesterday when James W. Gerard, the recalled American minister at Berlin, and his party arrived here yesterday.

When Mr. Gerard returned to make any statement before his ex-President Wilson at Washington, where he has lectured Wednesday, several men and women who left Germany with him said the people there were starving, and had given up hope of their victory or defeat came. What they did not care whether victory or defeat came.

They said the country was in a condition of despair, and that the people were not caring for their food.

Miss Katharine Mayo, a young Englishwoman who has been traveling for months in the countries at war, was one of those who declared conditions in Germany as "appalling."

Colonel and Miss Mayo, a recent returnee from Switzerland just before I left there, and, of course, I saw a good deal myself.

In a statement issued in Scotland last night it is believed that Germany cannot last another year. When the coming harvest is exhausted she will be forced to beg for peace. Without farm lands and cattle, after her there is no hope for the future.

"I have heard many persons predict that a peace settlement would come this year, when the German people must be made to realize that the failure of their military campaign is certain."

"Always the Prussian military rulers are keeping the people in ignorance of the true facts and conditions. Every incident of the war is distorted into German victory."

"But their stomachs are pinching them.

The Prussians cannot make them believe they are not hungry, and that hunger is becoming more intense and that the time is near when the last gasps of trouble may be expected. When that comes to pass, and the people realize the failure of the submarine campaign, then they would be compelled to make the statement they have been deceived in the military advice in Berlin."

Poles Will Not Fight-For Masters

People in Occupied Territory Show No Eagerness to Help

German efforts to induce the able-bodied Poles living in the occupied districts of Russian Poland to volunteer to serve in the German Army has the Teuton military authorities said to have planned to use as a buffer to repel any force from the front sent by the Russian troops are reported as having proved futile, and a story from Warsaw says that the Polish Corriere della Sera of Milan says that obligatory military service has already been introduced in the occupied territory.

Despite the German government's attempt to win enthusiastic annexation of the Polish for the new army and occasional reports from Berlin of Warsaw as a "city of culture" and the colors by Polish students and the Polish youth in general, news from Poland shows that the Poles still reveal many aggressions on the part of the people in the occupied territory to the German authorities and their Powers. The Russian Polish newspaper Wspomniany recently printed a resolution of the Polish Socialist party, advising the Polish workmen not to enlist in the Polish army, and that the Polish arms by a government that had been chosen by the people and the chamber of deputies of Poland. The workers demanded the immediate ending of the recruiting of workers in the Polish army, and that no solution was endorsed by a large number of the inhabitants of the occupied regions.

A Real Ashton Reiset — Dr. J. D. Ashton, of Ashton, Ontario, has never been described by extravagance state. His claims are conservative and his work is well known throughout which he performs. Expect real relief and permanent benefit when you buy from him, and you will not have cause for dissatisfaction. He gives prompt relief in many cases where other so-called remedies have utterly failed.

Slavery

Of all the portentous phenomena of this war, the return to state slavery is perhaps the most stunning revelation, and when I consider what henceforth will be "up-keep" it is hard to find a way to keep the peace. The German workmen in Europe held the view that they might as well work for their country as for any other, and when their country was invaded it meant starvation. The German workmen, in the port of Berlin, for fear of being captured for forced labor ended that theory, while the English workmen, who were the most intensively to the limit the hostility of the common people to militarism.—From the Springfield Republic.

And when asked if he did not know what the Navy regards as one of the most splendid and daring feats of seamanship, he said, "Yes, but this is the tradition of those who form the finest weapon ever forged. Our men are abysmal."

The Nation's Resources

National Safety Demands That We Be Able to Utilize Them Properly

The war has agitated every British country to its foundations. It has caused a search of heart with some, and a loss of knowledge with others in times of stress. Among the most remarkable results has been the re-examination of old policies.

The Colonial Secretary has appointed a committee to consider the settlement of ex-soldiers within the Empire. The committee includes the Australian High Commissioner and Agent-General Bruce Walker of Winnipeg. THE TIMES hopes to predict the War Conference Committee, which also has been charged against the accused, only to produce that schemes of aiding the emigration of soldiers are likely to be adopted.

British India has a large and populous army to be maintained.

The government has produced

what is now known as the national safety demands that the nation should not only possess them

but also make them available to every possible resource.

It is a time when thoughts of war and matters relating directly to war can occupy almost exclusively almost exclusively, but it has become clear enough in the last few weeks taught the most far-reaching importance.

Every conservation plan is vigorous and the government is taking steps to postpone or delay.

The Way To Get Them
Coming is to Advertise

There was an old saying, and it had a lot of sense. He started up a business on a dollar-and-eighty cents. The $1 dollar for stock and the eighty for salt brought him three dollars value in a day by date.

Well, he bought more goods and a little more space, and he stayed at his work with a smile upon his face.

The customers flocked to his two-by-four, and soon he had to handle four or five thousand feet of lumber a day. The price goes up, goes up, up—a customer that was still alive.

He fixed up his windows with the best he had, and told them all about it in a half-page ad.

He soon had ten customers and a few more, and he had to go to the bank for his salt bill. And he kept them humming in the town ever since, and everybody calls him the Merchant Prince.

Judicial District Map

A new map has just been issued by the Railway Lands Branch, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, which will be of great interest to all lumbermen and small contractors.

It is entitled the Judicial District Map.

The merchant, farmer or other citizen of the West, as well as the wholesaler of East, has often noted the paucity of information regarding the boundaries of the various judicial districts of the Provinces.

Now, however, all the boundaries of the courts are laid, or at which offices deeds or other important documents of a similar nature may be registered. This is of obvious benefit and convenience to all who have to do with legal business of a judicial character.

The new publication shows, by an elaborate, but not complicated, color scheme, the location of jurisdiction registration and judicial districts of the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, and the Canadian territories.

Auditors' Report

The Corporation of the Town of Blairmore, Alta.

Report and Financial Statements For Year Ended 31st December, 1916

Acadia Building,
612 Third Avenue S.,
Lethbridge, Alberta.
26th January, 1917

HIS WORSHIP THE MAYOR AND COUNCIL

The Corporation of the
Town of Blairmore,
Blairmore, Alberta.

GENTLEMEN,

We have in accordance with Sections 51 and 53 (2) of "The Town Act" examined and audited the Books and Vouchers of the Corporation of the Town of Blairmore, Blairmore, Alberta, for the year ended 31st December, 1916, and beg to submit the following statements:

Balance Sheet of "Debtenture Funds," general;

Balance Sheet of Taxation and Public Utility's Revenue Funds, general;

Revenue and Expenditure Account, general;

Revenue and Expenditure Account, Waterworks;

Statement of Bonded Debt.

All our requirements as Auditors have been complied with.

We have to report that the Balance Sheets attached hereto and signed by us, together with the certificate of audit, thereon, are in our opinion properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the Town affairs as according to the best of our information, the explanations given to us and as shown by the books of the Town.

We have again to draw the attention of the Council to the necessity of taking up the question of Depreciation upon a more liberal scale than has been used with this matter in the preparation of the Estimates. The only provision being taken care of in this way at present is the Debenture Principal repayments. We have purposely allowed making any arbitrary allowances for this purpose in the Statements herein referred to.

We would suggest that action be taken in regard to the accounts of Messrs. F.W. Doubt, J.R. Irwin and F.P. Snyder, which appear to be irrecoverable, and that if this proves to be the case that a resolution of Council be passed authorizing the Treasurer to write off the amounts bad debts. They have been recorded on the books of the Town for the last few years without any change taking place in them.

HENDERSON, REID & PARTNER,
Chartered Accountants,
Auditors to the Corporation of the Town of Blairmore.

People in Occupied Territory Show
No Eagerness to Help

Germany

The war has affected every British country to its foundations. It has caused a searching of heart which has not been known before in modern times. Amongst the results of its results has been the reorganization of their forces from an advanced to a more primitive stage. The results are having proved futile, and a story from Russia which has reached the Corries tells us that the Germans are still obliged to military service has not been introduced in the occupied territory.

Despite the German government's statement that they have annexed the Polish for the new army, we have occasional reports from Berlin or Warsaw of Polish students displaying the colors by Polish students in the Polish youth in general, news from Poland which has been suppressed to reveal any eagerness on the part of the people in the occupied territory to serve in the German army. The Russian Polish newspaper, "Wojciech," recently printed a resolution of the Polish Socialists party advising the Polish workmen not to enlist in the Polish army. This is a clear sign that a government that had been chosen by the people and the chance for self-government had been taken away. The workers demanded the immediate ending of the recruiting of workers in Poland. A proposal for such a solution was endorsed by a large number of the inhabitants of the occupied region.

WHAT ONTARIO FOLKS SAY.

Hamilton, Ont.—"This is to state that I have received great benefit from Dadd's Kidney Pills. Favorite Prescription. Some time ago I was very weak and suffered much pain. I was miserable. Four bottles of the pills were given me and cured me up in one short time. I am now strong for my age. I can recommend them to every woman who are ailing."—Mabel Milner, 127 West, Hamilton, Ont.

Brantford, Ont.—"Some few months ago I got into a most painful condition. Was very weak and could do nothing. I only took five bottles and it put me in splendid condition. I feel better than ever. I have used this medicine and highly recommend it to all."—Miss M. A. L. Brown, 127 Brightwood, Ont.

State Slavery

Of all the portentous phenomena of this war, the return to state slavery is perhaps the most stunning revelation of the day. Service will henceforth be "up against" if it can not find a way to keep the peace. That is the lesson Europe has learned in Europe. In Europe, they might as well work for their masters as for themselves, and that is another reason why the American cause is a losing cause.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes women happy by making them strong. There are no more courageous women, strong, sick women, weak and sunken eyes, listless steps, debilitated health, etc., than those who have been deprived of health and strength by the body itself. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a tonic for the body itself. It gives the prescription every day to restore your physical condition specially.

Dr. Pierce's Pillate regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Dr. Pierce's Pillate cures all diseases of the body itself. It aids in the sinking ships 15 times, and succeeded in taking in the whole crew. And it is the only thing that can tell what the Navy regards as one of the most splendid and daring feats of seamanship ever performed. But this is the tradition of those who don't know the weapon ever forged. Our heroes on the sea know, and to them it is alluring.

Rural Education Conditions

Importance of Primary School Training as Shown—By Survey

In a survey of agricultural conditions in Douglas County, Ontario, conducted by the Department of Education in 1916, the subject of education is reported as follows: 400 farmers visited had attended public school only, and one per cent had attended college and one of the 400 had attended business college. Ninety-four per cent had attended public school only. Three per cent had attended high school, and one had attended college.

Ninety-four per cent reported the children as having received garden training 22 per cent, reporting a home garden under the supervision of the parents. It was found that 90 per cent said that they had attended a short course in agriculture and 93 per cent in some other class.

The young people. Many of these short courses consist of judging cattle and horses, and the like, taught in various parts of the country, to which all farmers are invited. Nine hundred and twenty-four farmers visited the schools as at present managed.

If the present trend is to be imitated, the improvement must be definitely made in the training in the rural schools. Here lies the wisdom and advantage in making the school training as efficient, adequate and as possible to prepare the young men and women for real life in the country. The teaching of agriculture should always be given first place on the school curriculum than at present.

Settlement Committee Has Been Appointed

Australian High Commissioner and Agent-General Walker of Winnipeg Member

The Canadian Secretary has recommended the settlement of ex-soldiers within the Empire. The committee includes the Australian High Commissioner and Agent-General Walker of Winnipeg. The Times hopes the committee will not be allowed to prejudge the case, and will be strict and will also have a guard against accusation only too readily launched by some who desire the emigration of soldiers are likely to denounce Britain to the best of her knowledge. What is wanted is a real body to supervise all land settlement.

Mrs. H. A. Standish Strong, Henry and Enthusiastic at Sixty-two. Advice Others to Use Dodd's Kidney Pills

Ayer, Cliff, Stanstead Co., Que.—One of the most enthusiastic patriotic workers in this district is Mrs. H. A. Standish Strong, aged sixty-two years of age, her splendid health enables her to keep house and strength to devote to the welfare of the boys in the trenches. And she has a son in the trenches.

Her Own Fault—Mrs. John M. Weaver, Blissfield, N. H., writes:—"I can speak very briefly of Dodd's Kidney Pills. We have used them for my children and find they are the best medicine we have ever had. They help to build up the body and give it strength to devote to the welfare of the boys in the trenches. And we have a son in the trenches."

We Must All Be Prepared to Make
Our Own Contribution

We have deliberately decided to leave in mind the prime minister's warning that, if the enemy's victory is impossible, we must be content merely to restore the aggressor within his own territory. We look for a reconstruction of Europe on a scale which has not yet been heard of in history.

That decision requires us to be ready to make even greater sacrifices in the future than we have done in the past.

It is to face with composure risks and losses which we have not experienced in the first year of the war. We must answer the allied governments to Germany and Italy in these respects, a decisive turning point, and we must now brace ourselves for the consequences.

Canadian Order of Foresters

and the Royal Canadian Forestry Association

It was established in 1879 by 488 foresters and lumbermen, and is now represented by 20,000 members throughout Canada.

It has a membership of over 90,000, and is the largest forestry and lumber insurance society in the world.

The society has had a most successful record and has accumulated an amount between five and a half and six million dollars.

Last year was the most successful in the history of the institution.

The society has a capital of $100,000,000 and five hundred thousand dollars.

Notwithstanding this success the management of the society does not know what the actual standing of the society was, nor secured the services of one of the leading consulting engineers on the continent.

Acting on the advice of the society's directors to reconstruct the organization upon a basis which will give it at least 100 per cent actual value.

By taking this course, while it may not be able to treat its members more favorably than many of the societies which have already organized their business during recent years.

The management is to be congratulated on the fact that the society will place the society upon a splendid financial basis, and issue the full value of the order for all time.

"Who was it said that held rather the man who makes the laws of his country?"

"Doubtless but I'd rather make the laws for the people who make the songs we hear nowadays."
